Hardbound, wear and some tears on spines, but binding good. This is an excellent set of references for researching people of the 19th century. Each volume approx. 800 pages. Est. $400-600.

1771.5 Book. Jesse James Bluff and Jesse James Battle for Freedom, 1908 by William Ward. Published by Arthur Westbrook Co, Cleveland. Jesse James

Bluff: "After defeating the Pinkertons and several pursuing posses, Jesse James enters the Highbinders' headquarters and secures the Imperial jewels, stolen from the palace at Peking during the siege." Jesse James Battle for Freedom: "As a joke, the notorious desperado impersonates his friend Con Morley, the detective, and becomes involved in a series of thrilling adventures throughout which he shows remarkable aptitude as a manhunter. His pursuit of his quarry finally takes him into Mexico, whence, after a terrible fight against overwhelming odds, he and his two pals are forced to flee for their lives, without capturing their man." Both books have staple bindings. 4 x 5. The paper is acidic and chipping along all edges. The paper is browned by this process. However, the text is readable. Scarce and original. Fine. Est. $50-100

1773.5 Book. Mining. 27th Annual Review of the Silver Market, 1942, by Handy & Harman. This is a review of the Domestic as well as international silver market with detailed information. For example, in 1941 the US bought more silver from foreign sources than was produced domestically. But, these numbers dramatically changed in 1942. Other information like this is throughout this softbound pamphlet. 5 x 7. Extremely fine. Est. $25-75

1774.5 Book. Mining. An Early Mining Handbook or Textbook, c, 1925. There are at least 85 pages of which about half have photographic plates. The manual describes how to load a shot, shot movement, drilling, pump equipment and many other items related to everyday mining. There are great sequential photos of blasts, including the largest shot up to that time in the world. That shot was done by the Union Pacific with a load of 300,000 pounds of powder with the result of moving 1.5 million tons of rock at once (By today's standards, this number seems small. The Phelps Dodge Morenci Copper mine in Arizona transports 1 million tons of rock a day, with shots well in excess of this.). The cover is a vinyl, 9 x 15, binder holding the pages together. Wear to cover with folds and creases. Very fine. Est. $75-150

1775.5 Book. Mining. Copps' Hand Book of Mining Law, 1878, by Henry N. Copp, 4th edition. This book contains 163 pages, with 11 pages of advertisements, that outline mining law of 1872 as amended. Notable in the back is a list of all the patents for mining claims in each state, by county. 4.5 x 6. Black cloth cover, wear at extremities, water stain along top, not affecting contents. The book has the bookstamp of J. E. Jones, Eureka, Nevada on front leaf. Very fine. Est. $100-200

1776.5 Book. Mining. Mineral Resources of the States and Territories, 1869, by Rossiter W. Raymond. Reports on the mining industry for California, Nevada, Montana, Idaho, Arizona, Utah, Panama and includes a write-up on mining laws of the U.S. 256 pps. Not indexed. Original hard binding. Wear to corners, binding shows wear with top coating missing. Very fine. Est. $50-150

1777. Book. Mining. Mineral Resources of the United States, 1867, by J. Ross Browne. Organized as West or East of the Rocky Mountains. 360 pps. Indexes. Original hard binding. Minor wear to corners, binding has minor tears. U.S. Government Bindery embossed on front cover along left edge. Extremely fine. Est. $100-300

1778. Book. Mining. Mines Register 1962-63. Volume XXVI. Edited by Geoffrey J. Nightingale. The Mines Register is one of our primary reference books. The series of volumes began as the Copper Handbooks, changed to the Mines Handbooks and then the Mines Register. Invaluable information on existing mines for the period of time covered by the specific volumes. There is a list of inactive mining companies at the end. Original hardbound cover, 584 pps. Extremely fine. Est. $50-100

1779. Book. Mining. Production of the Precious Metals in the United States, 1889, by James P. Kimball. Indexed. 246 pps. Original hard cover binding. Minor wear to cover. Excellent condition. Est. $75-150

1780. Book. Mining. Production of the Precious Metals in the United States, 1890, by Edward Leech. Indexed. 296 pps. Original hard cover binding. Minor wear to cover. Excellent to near mint condition. Est. $125-250

1781. Book. Mining. Production of the Precious Metals in the United States, 1881, by Horatio C. Burchard. Indexed. 443 pps. Missing cover and binding. Pages attached, except first 17 pages. Text and pages in very fine condition. Est. $50-150

1782. Book. Mining. Production of the Precious Metals in the United States, 1900, by Geo. Roberts. Indexed. 380 pps. Original hard cover binding. Minor wear to cover. Excellent condition. Est. $150-300

1783. Book. Mining. Report on Mineral Industries in the United States at the Eleventh Census: 1890, by David T. Day. Published by Government Printing Office, 1892. 858 pp, including index. Illustrated with photographs, graphs and maps. Provides state of the industry information for gold, silver and many other ores. Hardcover, binding good, 9 x 12. Est. $150-300

1784. Book. Mining. Reports on the Mineral Resources of the United States, 1867, 1868, 1869. 3 books. The 1867 and 1868 books by J. Ross Browne are the same ones we use often in researching early companies and what happened in particular areas during those years. Both of these are Ex-Libris. Binding is good, but the books show wear on spine. The 1869 book is A Letter from the Secretary of the Treasury on mineral resources west of the Rockies. Another useful research tool. No front or back cover, binding good. Est. $300-500

resources west of the

1785. Book. Mining. Silver and The Science of Money, 1894, by Wm M. Stewart. This softbound book has comments on silver and its necessity in coinage. Congress had proposed a gold backed currency, and the abolishment of silver, which would have been the ruin of Nevada. This book is unlisted in Paher. 96 pps. Indexed. 6 x 9. There is a tear in the front cover at the bottom edge about 1.5 inches long. Binding is worn with missing chips. Paper has browned slightly. Very fine. Est. $200-400

1786. Book. Mormonism Exposed, No. 5 and Spiritualism Exposed, No. 35, Booklets, c1890. These small booklets appear to be part of a series of religious and spiritual frauds. In the booklet on Mormonism, the comments on this religion are less than flattering, actually downright bigoted. This was a common response to the newly formed "cult" religions that blossomed in the early to mid 19th century. The second booklet deals with the exposure of two young girls who were believed to be mediums that could communicate with the dead. These girls, Margaret, age 12, and Catherine, age 9, were somehow able to snap the tendons in their legs and wore lead weights under their dresses to produce strange sounds and vibrations that their father said was the dead responding to them. The first booklet on Mormonism has two adds on the last two pages. 3 x 4. Undated. No publishing information. Extremely fine. Est. $25-75

1787. Book. The ABC of Life Insurance, 1893, by Charles E. Willard. Published by The Spectator Co, NY, 3rd Edition. Soft bound, original cover. 3 x 5. 60 pps. Sticker on front top cover with "Wm. Beyer" written on it, probably the original owner. This book, as it sounds, outlines the Life Insurance business, the dos and don'ts, etc. Some separation of front and rear covers. Extremely fine. Est. $75-150

1788. Book. Transportation. Coast to Coast by Plane and Train, Illustrated Map, c. 1940. This is a gift booklet that would have been purchased when someone took a trip. The hardbound book has gilt lettering on the front, is 4 x 7, and folds out showing a map of the United States and the routes of travel. When turned over, the reverse has a more detailed map from coast to coast with selected cities highlighted around the border. Full color. Map is by Rand McNally. Most is in extremely fine condition except for on the presentation page, there is a large black stain that affects both pages there. Unknown source of stain. Est. $25-50

1789. Book. Western States. Mineral Resources of the States and Territories West of the Rocky Mountains, 1869. Authored by Rossiter W. Raymond. 256 pps. This copy is not in as good of condition as the above lot. Binding has tears near top. Corners are frayed. Text pages are unaffected. Very fine. See lot 1176 for illustration of title page. Est. $100-200

1790. Book. Western States. Mineral Resources of the States and Territories West of the Rocky Mountains, 1877. Authored by Rossiter W. Raymond. 519 pps. Indexed. Areas covered in this volume include California, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Montana, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming & Dakota, New Mexico and Arizona. Hardcover covers appear original but the binding itself appears professionally redone. Front and rear leaf pages appear newer than text pages. Very fine. Est. $150-300
