Partial

374. Arapahoe. Denver. Pedley-Ryan & Co. Silver Round. Pedley-Ryan & Co was an investment house in Denver. In 1933, the company wanted to boost silver sales, especially for the small investor, and started a campaign called "Buy an ounce of Silver." On January 5, 1933, Penley-Ryan began selling silver rounds that matched a standard U.S. silver dollar. Each round contained 1 ounce, 430 grains, of 99% fine silver. The company believed that it would sell thousands of the rounds boosting the silver prices and was even willing to buy back the rounds at the fair market value for that day. However, the campaign was ceased at the end of the summer after sales did not reach expectations. Sachs-Lawlor Co manufactured the silver rounds with the silver acquired from the Denver Mint. An employee of Penley-Ryan stamped or punched each of the rounds in the office. The company produced 7 different variations of the rounds produced either due to incorrect dies. The company was even forced to change the sizing of the rounds because of complaints that the rounds were being used in automatic pumps at filling stations. The rounds were the same size and weight of a U.S. Silver Dollar, but Pendley-Ryan sold the rounds at 3 for a $1 (Hilbert-Kappen, So Called Dollars, p.132-133). The round in this lot is Type III in Hilbert-Kappen. There were only 85 struck of this variety. Pendley-Ryan & Co./ Denver//One Ounce/ Silver/ 90%. Rd, silver, 38mm. Unc-Exemplary. Very Rare. Est. $100-300

375. Arapahoe. Denver. Pedley-Ryan & Co. Silver Round. See lot above for the story on the silver rounds. This silver round is Type IV in Hilbert-Kappen (So Called Dollars) with about 500 struck. Pendley-Ryan hoped this would have been the final variety and the mistakes all found until complaints rolled in about the slugs being use in automatic machines in place of U.S. Dollars (Pendley-Ryan sold the rounds at 3 for $1). This is the most common of the Pendley-Ryan Silver Rounds. Pendley-Ryan & Co./ Denver// 1933/ Silver/ 430 Grains. Rd, silver, 38mm. Xf-Unc with minor toning. Est. $50-100
